

Probes read the variable's true value; states come from a forced pass over the correct chain, so the lower panel asks what the state holds for problems this model gets wrong unaided.